
Negative-κ bars are descriptive finite-box ranges, not confidence intervals or certified thermodynamic errors.
Strong staggered-nematic response remains on the spin-suppressed side. No MC connecting curve is drawn.